6 seats up for grabs in Pahokee

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - Tuesday, May 4, is election day in Pahokee, and if the voter turnout turns out to be low, and interest not so high, it isn't because of a shortage of candidates.

Eighteen candidates have filed for six municipal seats, creating the first two page ballot in the history of the community.

All the races, mayor, city marshal, city clerk and three city council seats, are contested.

Two running for mayor

Running for mayor are incumbent Duncan Padgett and Nick Gingery.

Padgett, who has lived in Pahokee most of his life, served 20 years as mayor from 1960 to 1980. He was brought out of retirement in 1981 when Noma Norman resigned.

Padgett said he is opposed to water and sewage rate increases and would work against them. He also said he is "100 percent in favor" of repairing or patching poor roads in Pahokee.

Gingery is a newcomer to the political scene in Pahokee. He said he is running for office because he feels it is his responsibility to serve the community and help it solve its problems.

Three vie for chief

Carmen "Skeet" Salvatore III, the Pahokee City Marshal for the last 13 years, is facing two opponents in his bid for re-election this year.

Former Chief Charles M. "Sonny" Brown, who left office 13 years ago is attempting a come back.

Brown, a city resident for 36 years, said the marshal's job is a "full-time job that has to be worked at."

He promised "better and safer patrols and more of them."

Robert Welty, a 14 year resident of Pahokee, is also making a run at the marshal's position.

"For the money that we're spending on our police department every year, we deserve more," said Welty. "I think we ought to be like other

Savings sought on insurance

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council Tuesday night, April 27, in a move which may save the city up to $7,000 this year, changed the agent handling the city's health and life insurance plan for its employees.

The Florida League of Cities offered a pooled self-insurance plan at an estimated cost of $61,689 per year. The city accepted the plan, tur-

Scholars go to nationals

By BRENDA BUNTING

A group of 11 Glades area students are members of a 45-member Palm Beach County academic games team competing with students from around the nation this week in Eatonville, Fla.

The 11 Glades scholars, representing both of the area's public schools and two private schools, will be part of an effort of duplicating or bettering the record of last year's team that won 12 national championships.

That was more than a third of the first place awards available, according to David Campbell, one of the co-directors for the team. He said it's possible to win 32 championships.

Campbell, a specialist assigned to the West Area Administrative offices, said the national games trip was made possible for the students by area businesses who donated enough money to cover the $225 per student cost.

He said the bills were being footed by Dr. Donald Flieth, Milton Carpenter, the Bank of Pahokee, Florida National Bank at Belle Glade, Hatton Properties and A. Duda and Sons.

South Bay Growers, he said, donated bright red tee shirts emblazoned with the team title, "Palm Beach County Academic All-Stars."

The students will be competing with top academic games scholars from around the nation in the areas of language arts, and mathematics.

They will be working in teams of five, broken into four age and grade groups, including elementary students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, middle school students in grades 7-8, juniors in grades 9-10 and seniors in grades 11-12, Campbell said.

The students choose their own team names and the imagination shown in the naming is indicative of the students' intelligence.

One team, for instance, shows sufficient humility, or possibly irony, by calling themselves Appeal to Pity.

Then there are the acronyms such as JACAJ, made up of the first letters of the members' names. (It's spelled the same way backward or forward too) and DGADS, the Don't Give A Damn Seniors.

The games will be held at Rock Eagle, a 4-H camp near Eatonville, known as the home of Uncle Remus.

Campbell said strong teams typically come from Detroit, the Allegheny Valley and New Orleans.

Campbell said it would be hard to improve on the record of last year's team but there is a way. "The one thing we missed last year," he said, "was the trophy for being best overall. I guess that's what we're going after this year."

But there will be fun as well as games. Campbell said the county team will be making a trip to Six Flags Over Georgia.

The seven-day trip began Saturday morning when Campbell, co-director, Ave Sue Hickerson, of the gifted program at Palm Beach Junior College, and chaperons Barbara Prewitt of Glades Day School, and Shirley Speakes picked up the students at 5 a.m. Saturday.

The students are spending the week at the Atlanta Hilton and they'll be returning Friday.

Glades Day School is fielding the largest contingent of schools from the Glades, sending Joel Payababy, Betty Llorenes, Janet Clayton, Ana Layour, Murray Brinson and Coleman Prewitt.

Karl Cushnie is representing Glades Central, Thomas Tai and Kevin York are from Pahokee High and Lori Groover and Angie Phillips are representing Christian Day School.

GLADES GENERAL HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES OF THE YEAR. Patrick Lennon, administrator at Glades General named two employees of year at a reception held in the Employees of the Month honor Friday. Named employees of the Year were Mrs. Marilyn Burns and Mrs. Wanda Lowe. Mrs. Burns came to Glades General in 1976 as a Dietary aide. She is presently employed in the Data Processing Department. Mrs. Lowe, a licensed practical nurse has been with the hospital since 1965. She started her career at the hospital as a aide. The Employees of the Year received a weekend for two at the Resort Southseas Plantation on Captiva Island.

Co-op celebrates 20th harvest

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - The harvest is in and its time to party.

This isn't just any harvest, though, and it won't be just any party.

The Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida - Glades Sugar House has just harvested its 20th crop and plans are being laid to celebrate the event in style.

This Saturday, May 1, an estimated 3,500 employees and guests of the co-op will gather on the sugar house grounds and celebrate its 20th crop. The guest list includes full-time, part-time and seasonal employees, according to Security Manager Allan MacPhail.

The Port Committee will do the cooking, starting at 2 a.m. that morning.

On hand for the hungry will be 2,400 pounds of ribs, 80 chickens, 1,000 hotdogs, 4,000 ears of corn, 125 gallons of baked beans and 125 gallons of cole slaw.

For the thirsty will be an unlimited supply of sodas and about 70 kegs of beer. Ice cream will also be available.

Three prizes will be given away every half hour.

The event, two months in the planning, is scheduled for Saturday from 12 to 5 p.m.

The co-op processed 2,194,036 tons of sugar cane this year, setting four Florida sugar industry records in the process. It's an average of 17,650 tons of cane processed per day set a state record this year.

When it processed 22,638 tons in one day it set a second record and it set a third when it processed 147,377 in a week's time.

It produced 14,137 tons in one week to set a third record this year.

The mill located just north-east of Belle Glade is the largest in the United States. The co-op was formed by a meeting of agriculturists in Belle Glade in July 1960. The mill was opened in 1962 with a rated capacity of 6,000 tons, according to literature from the co-op.

It was improved three times, the latest in 1975. Today, the mill can handle 18,000 tons of sugr per day. The co-op consists of two divisions: the agricultural and the mill.

The agricultural division, according to a co-op release, "coordinates the harvesting and hauling of the cane to the mill for all members."

In 1975, the co-op had about 64,000 acres of land under the control of its 49 member growers.

BRAVO CARMEN were the compliments uttered by students at East Lake Middle School as they attend the opera "Carmen" at the Prince Theater in Pahokee last Wednesday. Stars of the opera were Joseph Alexander Perez as Don Jose and Adria Firestone as Carmen.

Black Gold vacancies filled

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - The Black Gold Jubilee committee, meeting for the last time until the first Friday in September, elected Rupert "Bubba" Mock, Jr. as the new chairman and set the date for next year's Jubilee.

Mock replaces Steve Weeks as chairman. Weeks had served as chairman for two consecutive years and was presented a plaque for his role.

The 1983 Jubilee will be held April 16 and 17. The tournaments which start the weekend prior to the Jubilee will be held April 9 and 10, 1983.

Other officers elected by the committee were Becky Wedgworth, who was re-elected to the vice-presidency; Ernie McCroan, re-elected to the treasurer's position and Charilda Sizemore, who is returning as secretary.

"I appreciate the two years because you all do the work," said Weeks. "You all make it go."

The committee members also nominated replacements for vacancies on the 20 member committee. Five members completed their terms.

Dean Jones and Mary Oresenigo, who were involved in the planning of the original 50th Anniversary Celebration in 1978, each left the committee after this year.

Other members who left the committee were David T. Evans, Larry Tucker, Roger Williams and W.C. Taylor.

The individuals nominated to replace them were David Campbell, Israel Baez, Rennie Jo Crews, Jill Wright, Bob Carlson, Ray Mills and John Pitts. The Belle Glade City Commission will appoint the replacements to fill the vacancies.

The committee also discussed this year's April 3 and April 4 Jubilee. Mrs. Oresenigo said she had heard only a few complaints but informed the committee what they were so they could be considered."

Some people expressed dissatisfaction with the Ministerial Association taking a collection during the religious service Sunday evening.

A film the committee had rented to show at the park in a tent Saturday could not be shown because of the heat. The film, which cost $150 to rent, was eventually shown in the library.

Some local residents expressed dissatisfaction that out of town entries in the parade were given cash police departments and send the officers to schools and teach them about new laws and stuff. I think we should keep up with the times."

He said he is running for the position as a full-time job.

The department is still the same size it was when he took over, said Salvatore. "If and when the department can stand it, we need to be enlarged."

He said the department cannot afford helicopters and trained dogs, but a good working relationship with the county Sheriff's Department places these items at its disposal.

He also addressed rumors that he has an outside job and said he is employed by no one but the city.

Two run for clerk's seat

Betty McCoy and Peggy Vaughan are vying for the city clerk's spot in Tuesday's election.

McCoy has been city clerk for ten years and is running for her sixth term.

She said she has a large responsibility in administering a $2 million budget each year and "would be happy to serve" if re-elected.

Vaughan said she has lived in Pahokee for four or five years and is asking the voters to give her the chance to learn the job. She said she admits she has little experience with the type of job but added that no one has experience until they are given a chance to learn.

Group one crowded

The group one city council race is crowded with five candidates running for the seat of out-going councilman Hugo Raineri.

Raineri, who was elected to the council in 1980, declined to run for re-election.

Running for his seat are Glen H. Carrick, Ronnie Graydon, Ramon Horta, Jr., Gilbert "Skip" Lanham and Diane Stevens.

Carrick, owner and operator of Southern Oil in Pahokee, said he feels his proven business ability may be an asset for the city council. He said he's lived in Pahokee since 1966.

Graydon said he is concerned with the city's ability to maintain "the services without having to increase the tax rate. But you can't promise that you know."

He said he would like to see the city obtain more funds from the state and federal government.

"I'm concerned that the council have members who can cooperate with the members of the boards of other local governments," he said.

"I'm hoping to improve a lot of things about Pahokee," said Diane Stevens. She said Pahokee's harbor is the biggest money maker in the Glades and that she thinks the city could better use it to increase its revenues.

"Let's don't let Pahokee, one of the oldest cities in the Glades, become like Lake Harbor or Canal Point," she said.

Ramon Horta, Jr., said he has lived in Pahokee for 14 years. "I care for this city. I won't make any promises because promises are hard to keep."

He said he would be an active councilman and try to get things the city needs.

"This town is not growing to its full capability," said Lanham. His goal would be to try to get more businesses to locate in Pahokee to create jobs. It would also provide some way for the area to compete with the coast. Commercial expansion would also increase property values, adding to the tax base, he said.

Group two mixed in controversy

The group two council race has attracted the most controversy. Originally, five people had filed to run in the race for out-going Council Chairman George Rashley's seat. Simon Train, one of the original four, dropped out of the race when questions concerning his job with WIRK-FM and FCC equal time regulations were raised by opponent Jim Usher.

"Later, questions were raised, once again by Usher, concerning the advertisements opponent Ada Bush had run in the Herald-Observer."

Bush and Usher are opposed by George "Walter" Rashley, Jr., son of the Rashley leaving the seat; and Helen F. Webb.

Bush said she is running because "the best way to show love for my country is to do something for the people closest to me - you, the people of Pahokee."

Rashley said the city has more positive assets than negative and that he would like to see local businesses built up and the local money put back into the local commerce.

"The chamber of commerce does this once a year during Christmas, but it's more than a once a year job," he said.

Usher said he would like to see the city get more state, federal and county funds. He also suggested the zoning and planning board be abolished if it has no authority.

"Time and time again, the council has overridden our recommendations," he said.

He said the biggest issue facing Pahokee is trying to get a restaurant built at the harbor.

"The council wants to spend money they don't have on things they don't need," said Webb, a 15 year resident of the city.

"They're in the red right now," she said. "I'd like to get them out of the red and into the black. I think I could do it with help from the other members. I have more time. I'm not tied down by a job so I have more time and energy to put towards meeting the people with the money and trying to get them to bring it in here."

She also said she would vote against any water increases.

Group three: Battle of veterans

Jon C. Mock, the incumbent vice chairman of the council, faces the opposition of Wynia Cummings, a six year veteran of the council.

Cummings, a 17 year resident of Pahokee, said "I care. I care about people, the quality of their life and the community. I want to contribute to my community."

3 give tentative pleas

By JEFF BROWN

Alfred Meeks, the supposed mastermind behind the kidnapping of Bruce Hutton last September, and two of his alleged accomplices, entered tentative guilty pleas in the incident Wednesday, April 21, according to Assistant State Attorney Barry Krischer.

Meeks, 31, Karen Dunaway, 34, and Wade Kelly, 24, pleaded guilty to charges of kidnapping, burglary, and aggravated battery, stemming from the September 20 to 23 incident, according to Krischer.

Meeks faces a sentencing cap of 20 years or a straight 15 year term, plus 25 years probation. Special conditions include an agreement to have no contact with the Huttons.

Dunaway may be sentenced to a maximum of 15 years or agree to serve a 10 year term.

Kelly agreed to either serve a maximum of 20 years or a straight 15 in exchange for his plea.

Raymond Alpine, a fourth person charged in the kidnapping, had already pleaded guilty and is scheduled for sentencing May 1. He could be sentenced to up to 15 years.

A fifth person charged in the kidnapping, Donna Lovett, has not entered a plea yet. Lovett has agreed to cooperate with authorities and Krischer said he does not want to be in the situation of using someone as a witness who he made a deal with. Lovett will not plead until after the others are sentenced, he said.

According to Krischer, the terms the three suspects agreed to last week give them an option after the pre-sentencing investigations are completed.

If the investigation is favorable, the suspect may opt for the maximum, or cap, sentence, since this allows the judge some discretion. A cap represents the maximum number of years a judge may sentence the individual to serve. He may decide to sentence them to any amount of time up to that cap.

If the investigation results in an unfavorable report, the individual would probably opt for the straight term, since it is lower than the number of years the judge may sentence him or her to under the "cap option," according to Krischer.

Bruce Hutton was supposedly kidnapped from his home September 20 and police recovered him September 23.

Registration underway at city hall

BELLE GLADE - Citizens may now register to vote at City Hall during regular business hours, according to City Clerk June H. Boglioli.

The city has several employees deputized to register voters, thus giving those who wish to register an alternative in the south section of town.

Appraisers meet in Belle Glade

BELLE GLADE - Palm Beach County Property Appraiser Rebecca E. Walker presented a property tax forum at the Belle Glade City Hall Tuesday.

Walker said the meeting was called to familiarize the cities in Western Palm Beach County with the work of the property appraiser office.

She said last year there were an overwhelming number of residents calling city halls requesting information about their tax statement and as a result she felt the need to assist the many taxing districts in Palm Beach with providing the answers to many of their citizens questions.

Following Walker's presentation, several key department heads of the Property Appraiser's office also presented information.

Miss Nancy Myers, Specialist/Secretary presented information on recap figures, wholly exempt properties and tax district rates.

Tom Wenham, Department Head of Field Operations gave information on building permits on new residences and additions.

The Appraisal Department Head Joseph Vick, answered questions on real estate appraisals on land and buildings.

Get out and vote!

Election of city officers is Tuesday, May 4, and if this election doesn't spark an interest in you somewhere, no election can.

The campaign has seen opposition develop in every race. Eighteen people are vying for six seats. The most hotly contested race is the group one race for city council between Glen H. Carrick, Ronnie Graydon, Ramon Horta, Jr., Gilbert "Skip" Lanham, and Diane Stevens.

Each race has at least two candidates. The voters can't claim that they lack a choice.

The campaign has also seen controversy. Simon Train had filed to run in the group three city council race against Ada Bush, Walter Rashley, Jim Usher and Helen Webb. When Usher raised questions concerning Train's job with WIRK-FM and FCC equal time regulations, Train dropped out of the race.

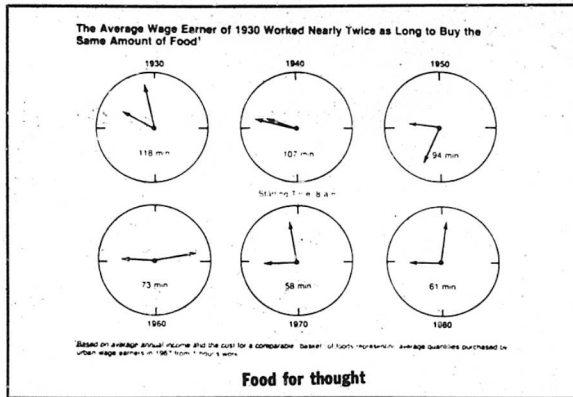

The campaign has not been uneventful. Anyone paying just cursory attention to local politics had to have noticed.

So it is up to the voters to pick and choose. An active voting population can make things change. Less than a third of the eligible voting population in the United States put Ronald Reagan in office.

Voting is one of the most basic elements of the democratic process. Voting gives the governed their voice, their handle with which to influence their governors. Nowhere is this more true than at the local level.

In a town of less than 6,000, every vote can count. Especially when an average of three candidates are vying for it in each race.

No matter who you are voting, or against, as the case may be, vote! Your vote may make a difference.

Religious ideas should not be banned from the air

Word has reached a number of Glades residents that Madalyn Murray O'Hair, atheist responsible for bringing the suit which took prayer out of public schools, is at it again.

She has been granted a federal hearing in Washington, D. C. on the subject of religion and the airways.

She has presented a petition (No. 2493) with 27,000 signatures which could ultimately pave the way for stopping the reading of the gospel on the airways of America.

It appears that her target is the broadcast and telecast of Sunday worship services. Many shut-ins and elderly people have no other access to religious services.

Mrs. O'Hair would also like to remove Christmas caroling and Christmas programs from public schools.

Efforts are underway to generate at least one million signed letters in opposition to this latest move.

Organizers are asking that letters be mailed to the Federal Communications Commission objecting to proposals to banish programs to show faith in God or a Supreme Being. The petition number (2493) is being entered on the outside of the envelope.

We applaud this effort. The airways offer virtually a limitless stage for programming of all sorts. In the future, home television viewers will be able to dial a 100 or more channels. There should always be room for religious programming.

No one says there should only be religious programming, nor that everyone should have to watch religious programming. But it should be available to those who desire to see it.

Your letters can be addressed to: Federal Communications Commission 1919 M Street Washington, D. C. 20054

Little things

It's the little things in life that are so often satisfying, leading me to think that we need to lower our sights occasionally.

All of us aren't going to win a Pulitzer Prize, become an Olympic champion, or be elected president.

We can take that a lot farther and say that we all cannot hope to become the best salesman in town, the best mechanic, or the guy with the most money in the bank.

We all cannot master the mysteries of the Rubik's Cube or Pac Man. I never have. It's humbling, I know, but life is hard.

That's why it's important to find satisfaction elsewhere, and there is nothing to suggest that these other ways can't be just as enjoyable.

Maybe more so. Some examples.

1. Fixing the turn signals on my wife's car. 2. Hanging a swag lamp, and 3. convincing my little girl to clean up her room. I accomplished all of this in one weekend and it brought me a whole bunch of satisfaction.

Maybe this requires some explanation.

I feel satisfaction about the turn signals because they work now. I don't have to listen to my wife ask me when I'm going to fix them, and I don't have to worry about getting a ticket whenever I drive her car because the turn signals don't work.

If I could just convince her to drive a wreck like I have she would never have to worry about anything else breaking down or having the car stolen. I keep leaving my car unlocked but no one wants it.

Hanging the swag lamp was a pleasure primarily because I was able to find a beam to nail it to without knocking a hole in my ceiling. What can I say? All of us weren't cut out to be master wood craftsmen.

Convincing my little girl to clean up her room required perhaps the most ingenuity.

I told her before we could vacuum the floor that we had to scoop all the toys and papers up. For some reason she thinks vacuuming is fun. So, she scooped up all of the papers and toys and placed them in a reasonably neat pile and had a party vacuuming her room.

You may think it takes little to satisfy me.

You are right and I consider myself a rich man because of this. To quote Shakespeare:

"He is well paid that is well satisfied."

In the continuing controversy over the proposed consolidated hospital to serve Belle Glade and Pahokee, the voters were to be given a chance to express their opinions... but no one knew what about.

Bob Lanier, secretary of the Southwestern Palm Beach County Hospital Board, announced the upcoming straw vote but said he wasn't able to say on what or when.

Belle Glade Cancer Crusade Chairman Lee Cranford said 1962 was a record year and the crusade had already topped its goal of $2,000, which was $500 more than had been collected the previous year.

The year was known as Cancer Progress Year for Belle Glade.

I.L. Price was elected president of the newly formed Glades Rice Growers Cooperative during the co-op's organizational meeting.

The new officers decided to give the public another week to join the cooperative because the mill would be purchased to care for the rice to be grown and a deadline for planning had to be set.

Other officers elected included Vice President George Royal and Joe Murphy, secretary and treasurer. Carl Barber and Bob Simonson rounded out the executive committee.

Planting at the rate of 30 acres a day, the American Kenaf Fiber Corporation's local organization was following a schedule which called for a harvest in mid-June.

President A.L. Guterman said the installation of a dryer and warehouse at the farm would allow the complete operation of decorticating, drying and baling to be carried out on the farm.

In a move to help local merchants, the chamber of commerce directors approved a resolution to the city to push Avenue A through to SR 715, which was then under construction.

Carroll W. McDonald of Belle Glade, who had just wound up his career with the University of Florida, was signed to play professional football with the Detroit Lions.

A new rust-resistant bean was developed by Dr. George R. Townsend at the Everglades Experiment Station.

The bean originated at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Vegetable Breeding Laboratory in Charleston, S.C. and was a cross between the Black Valentine and the Refugee.

It had been tested here since 1940 and was pronounced a success by a group of farmers and seed representatives.

The local draft board announced that 1,922 Glades men had registered for the fourth draft, a number falling below expectations.

The honor of registering first went to area grower Walter Hooker and Lou Currier, who registered at the same time.

Representatives of more than 100 local farmers urged definite action on planting three crops from which synthetic rubber could be made, "to aid the war effort, whether we make any money or not."

The plan called for planting 30,000 acres each of sugar cane and starch potatoes and 40,000 acres of peanuts, and the possibility of growing sugar cane after the war to make sugar was being explored.

The crops were expected to have an annual value of $60 million.

Everglades News and Belle Glade News publisher Howard Sharp announced the building meant to house the Belle Glade News at its Belle Glade home was nearly completed.

Both newspapers were being printed at the time in Canal Point. The Belle Glade News was meant to service the Belle Glade-South Bay area while the Everglades News was meant to service the Pahokee-Canal Point area.

Construction of a $3,000 bridge over the Hillsboro Canal at Chosen was approved by the county commission.

The bridge was to be paid for from special road and bridge funds, of which about $12,000 had been returned from closed banks.

Politics were in the wind and two Jacksonville men who were candidates for governor were in the area pushing their candidacies.

John Martin spoke at the Pahokee Bean Festival and Stafford Caldwell was due to tour the Glades on April 30.

Muck fires were given as the reason the Glades would be losing Victor W. Roth of Okeelanta, one of its earliest and most influential pioneers.

Roth had been a correspondent from the Okeelanta area for the Everglades News since the paper's founding in 1924.

Step program teaches parenting

BELLE GLADE — Improving parent-child relationship will be the focus of a series of discussion sessions beginning May 28, at Palm Beach Jr. College, Glades Campus. The program is being sponsored by Palm Beach County Youth Service Bureau according to Mrs. Celester Monroe.

The discussion will be based on "Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP)," the most widely used parenting education program in the country.

More than one million people throughout the United States, Canada, and other countries have participated in STEP discussion groups and used the accompanying parent's handbooks since America Guidance Services (AGS) of Pines, Minnesota, introduced the program in 1976.

"STEP encourages mutual respect between parents and child, increased cooperation, more effective communication, and a more responsible, self-reliant attitude among children," said Mrs. Monroe. Locally, parents from the last group said the program gave them the tool needed to be more effective parents, changing their children's behavior, and their attitudes," she added.

On the 1,300 STEP leaders who responded to the survey, 88% said they received positive feedback from parents about the program; only 2% reported any negative feedback.

According to Mrs. Monroe, parents who participated in STEP groups said they found the program beneficial for many reasons. High on the list was the opportunity it provided for them to share experiences and learn from others. Some STEP leaders spoke of networks of parents to "learn new ways to handle persistent problems," "to get in touch with their feelings and their child's," and to overcome a sense of guilt and develop a sense of confidence and self-esteem. STEP was also credited for improving participants' relationship with other people, including husbands and wives, employers and employees.

She said benefits cited for children included the opportunity for children to take more responsibility for their own behavior, a calmer, more relaxing environment in which to develop emotionally, and less spanking and parent "snooper-ism."

For more information on STEP groups being organized in Belle Glade contact Palm Beach County Youth Service Bureau, 996-4834.

ning down a recommendation by Hub Spooner.

Spooner recommended a plan from Integon out of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, for an estimated cost of $67,590.

Spooner told the council that Florida League of Cities, represented by David Jasmond, were offering "wonderful rates," but suggested the league may be attempting to "buy the business," and that the city may see dramatic rate increases next year.

Jasmond responded that the league had informed him that it intends to build and keep a respected organization throughout the state and that the city may cancel its health plan at any time.

Council Chairman George Rashley said he was concerned with the service coming from the league and asked how many cities had entered and dropped out.

Jasmond said no agency which had taken the policy had dropped out and said he felt it was because of the service the league offered.

The Florida League of Cities offers insurance to municipalities, counties and taxing agencies. According to Jasmond, it currently serves 138 cities and counties throughout the state including Boca Raton and Key West.

prizes and suggested that cash prizes be given only to local entries. Carol Ann Haller said she preferred to see all cash prizes abolished and plaques given in their stead.

The parade judges were concerned that they did not see the score sheets until just prior to the parade. Events at Airport on Saturday suffered from poor scheduling and frustrated many of those attending who had to walk back and forth to find activities. The committee members suggested that a public address system could alleviate that problem.

The Apostle Paul was always enthusiastic about his relationship to Christ. As he thinks about it he pours out his soul passionately, saying "By death with Christ on the Cross, so that it cannot be said that I live, but that Christ lives in me, the life I live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me."

Paul is telling us that Christ's humiliation bought and brought the annihilation of sin in his life. Paul may have been reminiscing on the event of Christ's crucifixion, but he was also reliving the death of the old Paul in which he was buried with Christ in baptism.

The Apostle Paul felt a union with Christ in death. As Christ died on the cross, so Paul died in his conversion. It was not despair that turned him to Christ, but his thoughts of redeeming love. The great Christian missionary was a realist and one who faced life. He knew the temptations faced in life. Therefore, he says to the Corinthians, "I die every day." He died to the evil in his life each day because the pressures were never eliminated in his daily living.

Second, Paul says that spiritual resurrection brings rehabilitation. As he had union with Christ in death, so he has it in life. In the resurrection of Jesus he has newness of life.

Being united in the new life with Christ, Paul is saying that Christ takes complete possession of him. He (Paul) lives his life in Christ instead.

The old natural man, the self-assured and self-righteous Pharisee, has been driven out and Christ has come in to rehabilitate Paul. The disciple of Christ must disown himself, recognizing that his life doesn't belong to himself, but to the Master he serves.

We must acknowledge a new mastery and realize that our new life has its beginning and ending in Christ, so that when we say, "Christ lives in me" we are describing the transformation of our personal lives.

As a result, we can go through life in trustful and confident reliance on the One with whom we enjoy a spiritual relationship. A Christian cannot have an existence separate from Christ because of the merger with Him.

Finally, Paul says this life is based on faith in the one who loved him and gave up His own life for him. Faith in Christ is the element upon which the new life is lived as well as based. The proof of Christ's love was his sacrifice for Paul and for us.

A life as a Christian is still subject to all the ills of the flesh and is exposed to sin and death, but faith in the love of God in Christ is more than enough to sustain us. Our lives ought to be lived so that those about us will see the life of Jesus in actions and words. By our fruits we are known!

Rupert Mock Jr. speaks on orchid

The setting for the April 20 Pahokee Garden Club luncheon meeting was the home of the President, Mrs. Bernice Simonson, on a spacious patio decorated with many lovely plants.

Rupert Mock, Jr., presented a program on Orchid Culture. He explained Collecting, Planting Medium, and Disease Control. He spoke of his collecting expeditions to Honduras and Paraguay and circulated snapshots. On display were orchids from Peru, Brazil, and Guatemala, and air plants from Honduras.

The annual Spring Plant Sale will be held Friday, May 7 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association Commu-ity Room. In addition to plants and home made baked goods, pressed flower pictures and macrame plant hangers made by the members will be offered for sale.

Mrs. Bernice Simonson, Mrs. Tina Elliott and Mrs. Nellie Moss attended the District X meeting March 26 in Tequesta. Pahokee Garden Club received a Certificate of Appreciation for Scholarship Donation for Youth Environmental Conference and a Certificate of Appreciation from Care (a program to help feed the hungry by distributing food).

Mrs. Maxine Britton and Mrs. Elsie Sims were voted in as new members.

Gators lose in finals

BY JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE—The Gators' softball team bid for the district trophy ended Friday, April 23, when Lake Worth Christian beat them 11-2.

Any of a variety of factors could have hurt the Gators' cause, but, according to Coach Mandy Perez, "the biggest factor was that we were out of sync at that particular day."

"They had a better team on that particular field that day," he said.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at John Prince Park in Lake Worth, but rains put the field in poor shape and it looked like the game would be cancelled until Lake Worth offered to have the game played at their own field.

The Lake Worth Christian field was not in good shape either, according to Perez, and the weather wasn't any help to either team.

Early in the season, Coach McReynolds had said the team had two goals: a .500 season and a district tournament trophy.

The team fell short of both goals, but not by much. A victory over Glades Day would have advanced the team to the finals and insured them of a second place trophy in the tournament. A victory in the finals would have put the Crusaders' record at 9-9, an even .500.

Gators lose first district game

BY JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE—There's always next year.

Next year has every indication of being a better year for the Glades Day Gators baseball team. The error-prone 1982 version of the Gators ended their season Wednesday, April 21, when they lost to Pompano Beach Highlands 8-4 in the first district contest.

Raul Garcia picked up two of the Gators six hits and Richard Schiele knocked a two RBI double, but the best news for the Gators was the three errors they committed.

"That's fantastic for this group," said Coach Tom King.

Throughout the season, the Gators had been losing games more out of the gloves of their fielders than the bats of their opponents or the arms of their own pitchers.

The loss ended the Gators' season, however, so the team has to look forward to next year.

The team is losing six starters to graduation: Schiele, Tommy Wilson, Henry Alava, Paul Allen, Bill Schlachter and Tony Guerrero.

McArthur will also double as pitcher if all goes as King expects. His other pitchers include Antonio Sanchez, who lost the last game to Pompano in districts; Jeff Larson, who relieved Sanchez in that game for three innings; and Johnny Telechka.

Roland Sweet will probably round out the battery.

Awards will be presented to the Gators Spring athletes at a banquet at the school Wednesday, May 12 at 7 p.m.

Brown named Raider head coach

BELLE GLADE—Daniel J. Brown of Belle Glade has been appointed the head football coach at Glades Central Community School.

Dr. Effie Greer, principal at Glades Central, made the announcement Monday afternoon.

Brown is presently the athletic director at the local high school. He will replace Ben McCoy who resigned the position earlier this year to accept a similar position at Palm Beach Gardens High School in West Palm Beach.

D.J., as he is commonly called, is a 1972 graduate of Glades Central and was a defensive back on the State Championship football team here in 1971 and 1972 under Al Werneke.

He also was president of his senior class. Brown attended Milliken University on scholarship and graduated from there in 1976. He remained at Milliken as an assistant coach during the 1976 football season.

In 1977, he was assistant coach under Werneke in Titusville. He transferred to the University of Cincinnati as a graduate assistant in 1977, was part-time assistant coach at the University from 1978-1979 and full-time coaching assistant from 1979 through 1981.

He returned to Belle Glade as a teacher at Glades Central last August and has served as an assistant coach under McCoy. Brown said the Raiders will begin Spring football practice on Monday, May 3, and approximately 16 lettermen will be returning, including some members of the junior variety team.

The Raiders will participate in a Spring Jamboree at Suncoast High School on May 28. North Shore, Palm Beach Gardens, and Suncoast will participate. There is a possibility the Raiders will face McCoy's team in the jamboree. Palm Beach Gardens is a 4A school and is not on Glades Central's regular season schedule.

The Raiders were 6 and 5 last year and lost the first round of the district playoff to Suncoast by a score of 3-0. Raiders fans are looking forward to another good year under the leadership of Coach Brown.

He is married to the former Sharon B. Vereen of this city and has one son, Daniel. Mrs. Brown also is a teacher in the Palm Beach County School System.

Crusaders end season

BELLE GLADE—The Christian Day Crusader softball team ended its season last week when they lost to cross-town rivals Glades Day.

The loss, in the semi-finals of the district tournament, sealed the Crusaders' 1982 record at 7-10.

Early in the season, Coach McReynolds had said the team had two goals: a .500 season and a district tournament trophy.

The team fell short of both goals, but not by much. A victory over Glades Day would have advanced the team to the finals and insured them of a second place trophy in the tournament. A victory in the finals would have put the Crusaders' record at 9-9, an even .500.

The next day, the Glades Day Raiders ended the district hopes of the Crusaders when they beat them 10-5.

Rowland was pitching that game and picked up the loss, finishing at 7-7 on the year.

"She gave good consistent pitching all through districts," said McReynolds. "Kelly Teets got the 'only good hit, I think. The rest were all singles or errors."

The Crusaders committed a handful of errors in the game.

"We hit the ball well, ran well, but we got us runs."

But in the end, it wasn't enough as the Gators snagged the Crusaders for five runs in the bottom of the sixth to extend a 5-2 lead to 10-2.

Sherri Mann led the team offensively in almost every category in 1982. She batted .444 with two home runs and four triples and batted .15 runs.

Rowland's 7-7 record carried the team on the mound, according to McReynolds.

The Crusaders are losing seven seniors this year, six of them starters.

McReynolds said she's making no plans but is waiting "fill next year to see what happens."
